MANDALA WORKSHOP by Ms. Prachi

Mandalas are soothing and fills one with peace.

Rangreza cell, the fine arts department a chunk of Creativity Innovation Entrepreneurship Cell of one and only Laxmibai College, University of Delhi organised the 'MANDALA WORKSHOP' on 11th of August ,2021. (Fost pone of the Aug. 2021)

The workshop held in virtual mode on google meet. Rangreza cell organised workshop with the aim to fill one's weekdays with knowledge and peace. We invited our guest Ms. Prachi who is well known for her mandala skills and has immense knowledge about art. She polishes her knowledge of art with her profession of being an Architect. Ms. Pratyusha Vatsalya, the principal of Lakshmibai college and other faculty members marked their benign presence which will always encourage us to do more for our college.

At 4 in afternoon our Mandala Workshop began with a huge response of 90-100 people who were willing to gain knowledge and to learn techniques of Mandala from our guest Ms. Prachi. Since, It was an open event, various students, teachers joined our workshop. Our head vidhi vora warmly welcomed everyone with her heartfelt speech and thanked our guest, principal mam and faculty. It was the kickstart of the workshop when Ms. prachi introduced her and started to pour her techniques into the workshop. We started with basic level and then proceeded to advance level. It was an interactive session with our guest and various members raised their doubts which were kindly answered by our guest. Everyone was enjoying the workshop and it turned into a huge success for Rangreza cell of Laxmibai college.

We would like to give a vote of thanks to our principal mam for enlightening us with this huge opportunity to organise 'The mandala workshop'.

A special thanks to our guest Ms. Prachi for teaching our members of the workshop about the trending art of mandala.

PAINTING THERAPY WORKSHOP

Music and paints are the best combinations to heal from within. Therefore, Rangreza- the subset of CIE, Lakshmibai College came up with a "painting therapy workshop" with the tagline "heal with tunes and paints".

Workshop held on 30th of October, 2021 at 11:00 am through google meet platform. The workshop was a great success as around 100 people from all over the University of Delhi joined us. Our team volunteers introduced our theme of the workshop by highlighting the decorum, material required and forming a creative space for artists. The workshop became huge as other teachers from various departments joined in the workshop. Everyone enjoyed the workshop. The most attractive part of the painting therapy workshop was the beats of lo-fi music and the tunes which played in the background. The music enabled people to create some great artworks. Art enthusiasts also came up and interacted during the workshop want on for exercise to answer various art-related questions.

The workshop went on for around an hour. We had exciting prizes for the winners who sent their artworks in the Whatsapp group created. Everyone stayed throughout the workshop. However, we also announced our CD painting competition winners at the end of the workshop.

People congratulated the winners. Thus, the painting therapy workshop was a massive success for Rangreza.

STITCHING the CHANGE

Products for Sustainable Living

Project under Enactus-Lakshmibai College Date of Inception: December 16, 2021

I. ENACTUS-LAKSHMIBAI COLLEGE

Enactus-LBC, is a student-run and student-operated, not-for-profit entity. It is born out of a shared commitment towards creating a better world, among a group of like-minded students. This team offers a spirited attitude, with a determination to make a difference and are defined by highest standards of integrity and ethics. Our team is devoted invest their time and energy to something that brings purpose to their lives as well as contributes towards betterment of the community.

II. PROJECT- STITCHING THE CHANGE

Under the aegis of Enactus-India, Enactus-LBC is running a social enterprise project by the name 'Stitching the Change'. With head for business and heart for the society, the project is aimedatcreating social enterprise options for females belonging to financially deprived sections of the society; promoting female empowerment through sustainable living.

II.1 The 4R Model

The project is based on the 4R model of reduce, reform, replace and renew. The project begins with reducing the wastage of fabric that is usually disposed off and finds its way to the landfills and reforming the otherwise non-usable cut-piece fabric into a usable end-product, promoting a zero-waste fashion. We intend to convert these cut-pieces into useful and reusable products like different variety of bags and pouches. This end product will be instrumental replacing the use of plastic, especially single-use ones such as carry bags. Connecting the dots, we aim at contributing towards renewal of climate for a sustainable and better future

II.2 Beneficiaries

Our target group is a group of females at Sawan Park Extn. Basti, Delhi.

Acute poverty and related vulnerabilities force them to work in the informal sector, for irregular time-intervals and at exorbitant levels of exploitation by the middlemen, resulting in negligible returns.

III. OUR ROLE

Stitching being their forte, project 'Stitching the Change'can ensure a perennial income flow for them. Our team will help them procure raw-material (fabric cut-piece) at low cost. Stitching useful products, they will convert otherwise unusable; yet fresh fabric into usable finished products (pouches, bags, cushion covers, etc.). Then our team will assist them in connecting directly to the end-user, through both physical markets as well as digital salesand-marketing platforms.

Our operations will thus be lined up, chronologically, as follows:

1. Capital Pooling

In order to create the initial pool of funds needed as working capital, our team will educate the target females on and assist them in creating a Self-Help Group (SHG). This will facilitate them in self-financing their operations and will also impart a sense of association with and involvement in the project.

2. Collection

Next, we need the supply of raw-material i.e., left-over waste, yet fresh fabric from clothdealers and merchandisers, at lowest cost possible. For this our team will engage in market research and will connect the target females with the vendors that supply them highest quality raw-material, at lowest cost, on a regular basis.

3. Distribution

In order to ensure that the bags and other final products, so stitched, are sold at competitive prices, our team will provide market support. We will help in creating markets; both physical as well online by connecting them with the end-user, and minimising the presence and mibai margin of the middlemen to greatest extent possible.

4. Auxiliary Services

A smooth and persistent operationing however, requires a great deal of auxiliary services to supplement the working of the project and to ensure its long-term viability. These range from provision of Legal Support to helping with Resource Building, to creating Financial Competence and finally providing Digital Literacy.

Legal support is required to formulate and enforce Memorandum of Understanding (MoUs) to communicate the mutually accepted expectations of all the parties involved in the contracts clearly, indicating a common line of action. Resource building is an imperative strategy for provision of basic infrastructure and training to improve the scope of functioning. Financial literacy is important to keep a track on inflow and outflow of funds. This will help the females to trail their sales, gross profits and net profits. Provision of digital literacy will help them explore online marketing platforms and get quality standard certification. Digital literacy is important to ensure that they become independent in their working are gain confidence and expertise in managing and expanding their work.

The team also intends to educate the females on importance of human capital creation, especially in the form of education and health. The idea is to nudge them to use their incomes wisely, creating better avenues for education and a healthy future for themselves as well as other members of the households.

And thereafter, sky is the limit.

IV. THE IMPACT FACTOR

The project works with a broad purpose of creating employment for the marginalised females at Sawan Park Extn. Basti but simultaneously aims at creating a three-pronged impact factor. These are:

1. ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT (Reduction in cloth waste & plastic use)

The unused fabric is either burned causing air pollution and emissions of harmful gases or are disposed of into pits causing large amount of solid waste. By reusing and recycling, we can prevent unnecessary piling up of solid waste in landfills, thus decreasing the pollution and protecting the environment. The recycled products will help reduce use of single-use plastic bags.

2. ECONOMIC IMPACT (Employment and income generation)

The beneficiaries will receive a regular source of income, broader selling platforms and a relatively more competitive value for their produce as middlemen will be removed from the supply-chain.

3. SOCIAL IMPACT (Women empowerment and human development)

Independence in earning not only boosts confidence but may also be instrumental in allowing women to take income-spending related decisions. This may further child education, health and general living standard of their households.

V. THE TIMELINE

Preliminary field visit: 21st November 2021

Sustainable Fashion: Strategies to Make it Commercially Viable

Department of Home Science, Fabric and Apparel Science organized an International webinar on "Sustainable Fashion: Strategies to Make it Commercially Viable" on 05th July 2021 at 5:30 pm with the support and guidance of Dr. Pratyush Vatsala, Principal of the college.

The first speaker, Dr. Charu Gupta. Associate Professor, Institute of Home Economics, Delhi University, spoke on Indian fashion firms and their journey toward sustainability. She began with the Brundtland Report, which defines sustainability as "progress that satisfies the requirements of the present without undermining future generations' ability to satisfy their own needs." She discussed how the three Ps (People, Planet, and Profit) have evolved as critical social, environmental, and financial dimensions of sustainability. She also discussed the UN's 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which India and the rest of the world are aiming to achieve. She also emphasized the importance of carbon footprint, which is influenced by a single garment fabrication process. She also presented one of her student projects, which was supported by Delhi University, on sustainable home décor products made from fabric scrap.

The second speaker of the day was Dr. Cosette J. Martinez, Associate Professor, Department of Design & Human Sciences, University of Oklahoma, USA. She began the lesson by displaying a photograph from the United States demonstrating the necessity of sustainable practices. She discussed sustainability in terms of acquisition, emphasizing that it begins with this concept and progresses to a sustainable lifestyle. She then led the conversation and highlighted the reasons – such as economic, functional, psychological, and sociological reasons – for how to prevent climate change. She also discussed people's consumption habits and how to focus on maintaining a conscious relationship, which will lead to a reduction in carbon footprints. Another key topic she emphasized was sustainable consumption, with an emphasis on three things: acquiring clothing, using clothing, and discarding clothing. She discussed the gap that exists between people's attitudes and their actions, and how this space is filled by contradictions. Finally, she discussed consumer activism and how it is our obligation to push and encourage companies to embrace sustainable methods.

Webinar Report

Sustainable Practices in Fashion and Apparel: Global and Indian Perspective

Department of Home Science, Lakshmibai College, University of Delhi organized a Series of International Webinar on Sustainable Practices

First webinar under the series was held on Tuesday, June 15, 2021 at 5:30 pm (IST), through Digital Platform: Google Meet Convenors for the webinar was Dr. Anita Malhotra & Dr. Sabrina Sareen. Team members were Dr. Nicheta Bhatia, Dr. Megha Goyal Rai, Dr. Noopur Sonee, Ms. Upasana Gaggat, Dr. Rachna Dhingra and Ms. Sabhya Juneja.

Two eminent speakers invited for the session were:

Dr. Ela Dedhia, Former Head & Associate Professor, Dept. of Textiles & Fashion Technology, Nirmala Niketan, Mumbai.

Dr. Claudia Henninger, Senior faculty, Fashion Marketing and Management, University of Manchester, U.K.

Theme: "Sustainable Practices in Fashion and Apparel: Global and Indian Perspective"

1. Dr. Ela Dedhia

Dr. Ela Dedhia spoke about the holistic approach to sustainability which implies an integrated achievement of economic, environmental and social goals of development. She said that all stakeholders are important in helping to drive long-term sustainability. It is not only about products but everyone needs to look at the processes, environment, people, profit, it does involve everyone.

2. Dr. Claudia Henninger

The second speaker Dr. Claudia Henninger started the session by highlighting the fact she is very passionate about sustainability and fashion. She stated that one should be looking at fashion from various perspectives like i.e. economic and social. She further set the forum by mentioning SDG 12 on responsible production and consumption. This SDG focuses on sustainability in terms of garments usage, supply chain and production materials and its impact. She used the example of using food waste to make orange fibre, for this, one needs to think differently and work across different industries. She highlighted the concept of circular economy in the fashion industry talking of the biological cycle and how the raw materials are created and produced, Technical cycle in terms of how one can recycle and produce biodegradable products, Economical aspects and how they are related and the different approaches that can be used for it and supported by mentioning various examples like nylon, plastic, cotton, the final stage is closing and utilization and how it is impacting depending on the usage of the garments.

The session was followed by a question and answer session where usefulness of eco-labels for sustainability, preparedness of people to use rental clothing, how we can balance between the following of trends and other sustainable actions were discussed.
